ASKOV GRADE SCHOOL HISTORY

In September, 1944, twenty-five anxious, but bashful little boys and girls took their seats in Mrs. Kratke's room for the first time. She was known as Miss McCutcheon then. Of these twenty-five, only ten remained the whole twelve years to graduate in 1956. They are: Ronald Clark, Leroy Clausen, Delores Hansen, Royce Henriksen, Cecelia Jensen, Karen Proff, Jack Pearson, Alise Holgaard, Harriet Holgaard, and Sonja Nielsen. Either the teachers gave them a hard time from the start or we didn't know how to behave, because Jack and Ronald were put in the corner the first day of school.

Our third grade was split up so we don't all remember the same things about it.

Joyce Jensen joined our class in the fourth grade. Miss Olson was our teacher this year.

Mrs. Eckert taught us when we were in the fifth grade. We learned our history and geography real well that year! James Trestrail and Gloria Olson came in the fifth grade, but both left later on.

We probably all remember the sixth grade as a time of fun for all of us except Mrs. Peterson, our teacher. I wonder if she knew about the eraser throwing contest we had every time we left the room. This was also the year they tried to break us of our note writing habit—they didn't succeed; even having them pinned on the bulletin board didn't stop us. They also tried to teach us not to eat candy in school. Sonja got a jaw breaker caught in her throat, which proves we didn't listen to the teacher very well.

In the seventh grade, Leo Jensen came from Wisconsin and Gloria Anderson from Willow River. We were sorry to have Ronald Eccles leave us at the end of the year to go to another school. Mr. Ryhr was our teacher in the seventh and eighth grades. Remember in the eighth grade when Mrs. Ryhr let us sit out in the cloak hall and knit? It's funny we got anything at all accomplished out there. She even trusted us to study together out there. This was also the year that we had so many parties. By the end of this year we were all excited about being in high school, and couldn't wait to meet our new friends from up north.

BRUNO GRADE SCHOOL HISTORY

Back in '42 thirteen excited youngsters entered the Bruno Grade School. They were Marie Brown, Mary Billman, Lyle Gray, Ronald Gross, Mary Ann Judkins, Ruth Moedt, Elmer Monette, Edith Nelson, Bonnie Pearson, Lois Passow, Arlene Peterson, Allan Flaisted and Norbert Wermer-skirchen. Our teacher for our first two years was Miss Mary Murphy. Ruth Moedt moved to Chicago during our second year of school. In third grade we had Miss Hawley for our teacher. Mary Ann Judkins and Lyle Gray left us this year. Our fourth grade was very much the same except for harder work. Miss Lennox was our teacher this year. Glen Weidendorf, Gerald Wallner and Betty Frazer joined us this year. Miss Holmes was our teacher during our fifth and sixth grades. Bernice Linder joined us in the fifth grade and left us again in the sixth. We had a few new students join us during our sixth grade which made it much more fun and more competition. John Swanson, Richard Fuller and George Ayers were the new students. Richard Fuller left us after the sixth grade but James Trestrail was there to take his place. Isabella Walker also joined us about the middle of this year. Mr. Trestrail was our teacher through our seventh and eighth grades. James Trestrail left us after the eighth grade so there were fifteen of us left looking forward to going to Askov.

KERRICK GRADE SCHOOL HISTORY

In 1942 five youngsters entered the Kerrick school to meet their first grade teacher, Miss Stine. They were Jerry Sexton, Maurice Keyport, Rose Ann Ketchum, Donna Mae Hackett, and Sophia Robinson.

In the second grade we had a new teacher, Miss Edstrom, and also a new classmate, Wanda Fogarty. Sophia Robinson moved to another school. Miss Edstrom was also our third grade teacher.

Miss Chaffer was our teacher in the fourth grade; this year John Domagalla joined us.

In the fifth grade we were moved into another room, which was known as the big room. Here we met our new teacher, Mr. Havisto.

In the sixth and seventh grades, Mr. Anderson was our teacher. It was in the seventh grade that June Hartfiel joined us.

Mrs. Flor was our teacher in the eighth grade.

We were all looking forward to meeting our new classmates at Askov.

DUQUETTE GRADE SCHOOL HISTORY

In 1942 several excited little youngsters entered the Duquette Grade School. We were Carol Meyer, Ralph Bloom, Walter Bloom, Myrtle Magnuson, and Billy McKee. Our teacher in our first grade was Miss Soenna.

In our second and third year no more came or dropped out. Our fourth year was more exciting because of a new teacher, Mrs. Erickson. We were happy to see two new faces, Shirley Lundwall and Charlene Lundwall.

In our fifth year we had a new teacher, Mrs. Ness and a new student came to our school, Ernest Pionk.

Our sixth and seventh year was not too eventful. We also welcomed a new teacher, Mrs. Johnson.

In the last year of grade school we still had Mrs. Johnson as our teacher. We all looked forward to seeing our new classmates who we would join in the ninth grade at Askov High.

The four finishing this year are Shirley, Walter and Carol.

HIGH SCHOOL HISTORY

Forty-two intelligent faces (but that was all) started high school. The whole thing was all right by us except for one little thing. Initiation! Remember those itchy ol' "Long Johns"? Weren't they horrid? And those shoes! Wonder how the boys ever lived through it. We had some of our classes over in the D.B.S. Hall, and it was a lot of fun walking back and forth. One nice thing--they could never tell where we were. We found out who the gentlemen were, too, when one of the teachers was pushed down in the mad rush for dinner.

In our sophomore year we had our revenge. The freshmen had to take their punishment now! All that wasted lipstick! About this time we were finding out what study halls were for--sleep. The teachers didn't quite have the same idea, did they?

Oh, the junior year was really the one for work--the play, prom, and getting the Rutabaga Gazette out. At least in our own estimation, they were all successful achievements of our class. Which was the most fun? All that crepe paper! Remember! We thought we'd never get it all up. Just like rain or shine the school paper was always ready on time. It all goes to prove most anything can be done.

And now it's our last year of high school. At one time or another we've all thought it was hopeless, but here we are hoping and waiting for our diplomas.

Class Prophecy

As I was cleaning the meteor dust off my bookshelves the other day, I ran across an old weather-beaten PINE KNOT from 1954. It made me very lonesome for all of my old pals, and I decided to take a vacation from my flying saucer wrecking yard. I gassed up my new Model T smokemobile and hit the air. I hadn't been travelling for over sixty seconds when I hit a huge mass of bricks. I had run smack into a building being erected by the Wermerskirchen Construction Company. I chatted with Norbert and his secretary, Miss Isabella Walker, for a few minutes, and they told me I would find Sonja Nielsen down the road in her shooting gallery. Sure enough! I found Sonja surrounded by all her guns, giving lessons in shooting.

When I had gone about two miles I discovered an awful fact; I had run out of fuel for my little smokemobile. So I set out on foot for the nearest farm where I met, to my surprise, Karen Krogh, who was busy harvesting her bountiful bean crop, and she welcomed me warmly. She gave me some fuel and a lift in her surrey and told me not to miss visiting the Dry River Hoe-down in the Legion Hall at Danbury, for Ronald Clark was to sing there that night as the main attraction. I assured her I wouldn't miss it and I didn't, either. The show was a huge success; the entire populace of the area turned out to see it.

That night I also witnessed an amazing feat--a juggling act by Allan Plaisted.

After the show I chatted with Clara Hedin, manager of the Hedin Poultry Farms both here and in Japan.

The next day, bright and early, I hopped into my little smokemobile for a visit with other old pals in New York. To my surprise, as I was buying atom juice, I noticed a huge billboard announcing the next game between Askov and Syracuse, with Jerry Peg-leg Sexton as the world's greatest basketball player. He also runs a Hot Rod Manufacturing Company on the side. (and enjoys this even more, I'm told.) When I reached New York I headed straight for a big sign which read: "Expert Roller Skating Instructions, Gloria Anderson, Prop." I couldn't resist this and I received some very timely tips from Gloria on skating and also as to the whereabouts of other old buddies. She told me that Bonnie Pearson was Dean of Girls at a home for juveniles who skipped school. She said that Miss Pearson has a very understanding nature and much experience, which, no doubt, has contributed to her success as a counselor of this sort. While in New York, I found Rose Ann Ketchum, as head nurse, in one of the leading hospitals. At the time of my visit with her I also chatted for a while with Cecelia Ingemansen, who had been doctoring for sometime for toeache-itis. However, she had improved a great deal and told me where I could find one of her friends (and mine, too) who was none other than Ardyce Henriksen, the head librarian, in the biggest library in the nation. While visiting her there, I talked with Laurence Haege who was busy with his latest experiment--a cat that wouldn't meow. So far he had not had much success but was still trying.

On the way back from the library, I spied a poster in a window which read: "Magnuson Reducing Salon"; I stepped inside and saw Myrt with five busy secretaries flying around her. Myrt offered me a free treatment and I accepted--just for fun, of course! She had a very nice layout there. She told me that Marvin Olesen was her best customer and was around most of the time, so she hired him as janitor of her establishment. She told me to be sure to visit the Keyports while I was in town, so I took her advice and visited Shirley and Maurice that very afternoon, and of course, their family. I also chatted with Carol Sagvold for several minutes after I left the Keyports. At the time she had been baby-sitting with fifteen of her grandchildren and was taking some of them for a little stroll.

I headed north to see Walter Bloom at the fire tower in Nickerson. He welcomed me warmly and directed me to a place to buy smokemobile fuel. When I saw Delores working as the attendant in the wrecking yard and gas station combination, I got the surprise of my life. The name of her establishment was "Modern Machinery Hill."

Walter also mentioned to me the trouble his neighbors were having. It seemed that the Mrs., Elsie, couldn't agree with her husband on one score. She wanted to continue singing with her cousin, Harriet, as the Moley girls, but her husband had been having earaches and couldn't stand the noise.

As I left the wrecking yard, Delores told me to watch out for Jack Pearson who was still crazy about cruising around on his cycle. It was still the same, only he had super-atomic power now.

I was just thinking about Jack when he whizzed up to me. He told me he was just returning from the shindig over at Danbury. I asked him what the big stink was that I smelled. He told me it was rutabagas. Leo Jensen and LeRoy Clausen had formed a corporation to become the biggest root dealers in the area; the roots must have been rotten. I stopped in at their place to use the telephone. When I got there they were busy making plans for the construction of a double-duty destinker. When I got the operator, she sounded familiar, and suddenly I realized I was speaking to Joyce Jensen, telephone operator, noted for her quick, courteous service. I got my party and soon afterwards took off in my smokemobile for Venus.

Class Will

We, the senior class of 1954 of Askov High School, after twelve years of sweat and smiles, disregarding our differences, do make, publish and declare this our last will and testament.

I, Gloria Ann "Andy" Anderson, will my uncanny ability to cut ten minutes off social class every day to Carl Jensen.

I, Walter Lorenz "Wally" Bloem, will my good nature to Delores Krueger.

I, Ronald John "Ronnie" Clark, will my dark, wavy hair to Irene Passow, and to Dean McCullough goes my janitor's job in case he needs some spending money.

I, LeRoy Lunde "Lippy Lee" Clausen, will my ability to be the first one up in the pool hall at noon to Paul Petersen.

I, Delores Mathilda "Del" Hansen, will my ability to get to doings almost every night of the week to Barbara Hansen. I leave my cheerleading ability to anyone who wants it.

I, Clara Marie Hedin, will my love for giving speeches to Philip Chalman in hopes he can keep the seniors happy in English class next year.

I, Laurence Carl Hegge, will my ability to keep the teachers on their toes with my knowledge to Gerald Knapp.

I, Ardyce Lou "Ardy" Henriksen, will my colorful vocabulary to Deanna Budd. My gift of oratory I leave for Jack McCullough to use.

I, Cecelia Marilyn "Cindy" Ingemansen, will my ability to run the ditto machine to Barbara Ambers so at least there will be someone to run off tests next year.

I, Velma Joyce Jensen, will my dislike for my first name to any junior girl who doesn't like hers.

I, Leo Theodore "Lee" Jensen, will my knowledge of trucking to Joy Flesner in hopes she will become a cattle buyer someday.

I, Rose Ann "Rosie" Ketchum, will my long black hair to Barbara Johnson.

I, Maurice Anthony Keyport, will my ability to get along with the girls to Pat Galvin.

I, Karen Marie "Carrots" Krogh, will my job as choir secretary to Elsie Christensen so that next year she'll have to get there on time. My happy-go-lucky mood goes to all to the pessimists in the junior class.

I, Shirley Mae Lundwall, will my argumentative ability to Helen Torell. To Edward Berglund goes my contagious giggle.

I, Myrtle Ardyce "Myrt" Magnuson, will my ability as a cartoonist to Mardelle Weseman so that she will someday be in the funny papers. To Darrel Madsen go my wise cracks so he can keep the future seniors from getting bored.

I, Elsie Marie Molgaard, will my melancholy moments to all the dreamers in the junior class.

I, Harriet Julia "Herby" Molgaard, will my quiet beauty to Patricia Laursen. To Duane Monette goes my neat appearance, and he surely doesn't need it.

I, Sonja Elizabeth "Suzie" Nielsen, will my utter dislike of all things cowardly to Richard Wahlquist. To Fran Dahlgren goes my knack for being first to dinner.

I, Bonnie Lou "Bonita LuLu" Pearson, will my ability for getting passes and excuses to Freida Rasmussen. To Beverly Sebald goes my title as "Clothes Sharpie" of the senior class.

I, Jack Bennett Pearson, will my motorcycle to Leslie Lund so he can keep the town constable busy at noon. To Bill Haynes goes my projector's ability for use during next year's social class.

I, Allan Dale Plaisted, will my sunny smile to Sylvia Jensen in hopes she will brighten many a dull moment.

I, Marvin Herbert Olesen, will my height and weight to Bobby Thomsen in case he needs it for basketball next year.

I, Carol Ann Meyer Sagvold, will my ability to go to school and keep a husband at the same time to Carol Christensen, in case she wants to try it, too.

I, Jerome Edward "Jerry" Sexton, will my basketball ability to my brother, Timmy, so we may go to the district tournaments next year.

I, Isabella Walker, will my talent for sewing to the senior home economics class of next year.

I, Norbert Frank "Wern" Wernerskirchen, will my ability to be seen and not heard to Art Jensen in hopes it will tame the juniors a little.

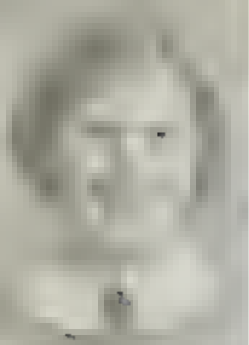

Jointly and severally, we will our textbooks to the janitor for kindling in case the school is as cold next year as it was this year.

We, the senior class, will, to all future seniors, the utter amazement they feel when they realize they are at last seniors.

Basketball "A" Team

The 1953-54 basketball team, with the return of all the boys, finished the year with seven wins and seven losses in the sub-district. They won two out of four other games, the opponents being out of the sub-district. Nearly all of the games were close and proved to be very exciting.

The team will lose only one player, Jerry Sexton, so we can expect to see the Danes fighting for first place next year.
